War was raging over Thrae, a country peopled by all sorts of extraordinary creatures who had lived there happy and untrammelled until the day Emperor Iter and his diabolical acolyte, the magician Chertaf, unleashed a reign of terror. Their faith in the legend of the Jetob, a magic object with supernatural powers was the faint hope of succour to which the peoples of Thrae clung. Lul', a young Orlin, was chosen to carry the Jetob and to decipher the mysterious message delivered with it. She discovered the Back-to Front World - Earth, in fact - and met a boy there, Alex, who bore an uncanny resemblance to one of her bestfriends. But then she fell into the devilish trap laid by Chertaf, a virtuoso in such matters. Will she manage to escape? Will the young Earthdweller survive? Lul' and Alex are as yet unaware of the identities of their enemies!
